

Two of American writer Mary Roberts Rinehart's bestsellers are bound together in this Kindle book: Where There's A Will & The Man in Lower Ten. Where There's A Will (1912) Red-haired women are born to intrigue, as the sparks fly upward. Minnie was no different. Minnie had been a spring-house girl at Hope Springs Sanatorium for fourteen years. Her father had the position before her. But it seemed he was now on his way into town to sell the place and turn it into a hotel. That's when the old doctor died. Nobody was prepared for what happened next, least of all to hear the doctor's last Will and Testament. But where there's a Will, there's a way. The Man in Lower Ten (1909) Lawyer Lawrence Blakely is delivering documents when he encounters romance, a train wreck and murder. About The Author American writer Mary Roberts Rinehart -- considered to be the source of the phrase The butler did it -- was sometimes referred to as the American Agatha Christie although her first mystery was published more than a decade before the British author.
